HOPE COLLEGE

1978-1979 PRESIDENT'S REPORT AND HONOR ROLL OF DONORS

THE COVER

"This is my Anchor of Hope for this people in the future."

The symbol of an anchor has been synonymous with Hope College since the founder, the Reverend Albertus C. Van Raalte, in 1847 made his now-famous statement.

The anchor is incorporated into the official College Seal. The student newspaper is named the anchor. An anchor adorns the front lawn of Graves Hall, next to Dimnent Memorial Chapel.

Under the leadership of President Van Wylen, a committee worked during the past two years on the development of a logo for College-wide use to replace a myriad of identifying devices.

The primary purpose of this effort has been to give the College a more consistent image and to facilitate easy recognition and recall of Hope College.

People who come in contact with Hope College form impressions that often serve as the basis for opinions and attitudes. Frequently this contact first occurs through printed materials such as this President's Report. For these reasons, it is important that the College's visual materials project an image that is clear, consistent and easily remembered.

The Seal will remain the official identification of Hope College on diplomas and other documents.

The logo's anchor, drawn from the one in front of Graves Hall, is enclosed in a triangle emblematic of the College's Christian heritage. The lines of the rounded triangle and the anchor co-mingle. The type for the name Hope College is bold, but traditional.

It is our hope that the new logo of Hope College will further strengthen our identity with the higher education community while maintaining a continuing commitment to excellence in the context of the Christian faith.

"The longing to know who we are, the quest for meaning and purpose in life, and the ingrained desire to develop our gifts and abilities remain relatively constant throughout human history."

This is the last annual report for the decade of the '70s, and it is quite natural to reflect on the past decade as well as the past year. This decade began with the student protest movement in full swing, and the stresses and tragedies of the Vietnam War pressing upon us. Scarcely had this conflict been resolved when the nation was stunned by Watergate and the national crisis which resulted. Soon thereafter the recession of 1974-75 hit. As the decade comes to a close, energy and inflation are major concerns in this nation and the entire world, and most of the major issues of this period — racial equity, urban decay, world hunger, and the proper role of government — remain largely unresolved.

The past decade is a reminder of the ever-changing political, social and economic environment in which we all live and in which Hope College must function. The students who come to us are greatly influenced by those forces and values which prevailed during their pre-college years; when our graduates leave college they must face the world as it is at that time. Ours is the task of understanding students as they come to us and helping them prepare to live responsibly in an ever-changing world.

At a deeper level, however, we recognize that many of life's elements change slowly, if at all. Countless individuals have made the same discovery of what it means to be truly human, even though the environment in which this must be worked out does change. The longing to know who we are, the quest for meaning and purpose in life, and the ingrained desire to develop our gifts and abilities remain relatively constant throughout human history. With us in every generation are the temptations to conform to contemporary society without a mature, thoughtful evaluation of it, and to succumb to pride, prejudice, and materialism.

As a college we have the dual responsibility to be sensitive to all the changes taking place in our world and at the same time to teach and instill that which has permanent significance and value. Man was created in the image of God who, though he does not change, is Lord of an ever-changing world and cosmos. Excellence in liberal arts education always embraces a delicate, mature, and creative balance between permanence and change, between enduring truths and contemporary issues.

This has been a good decade for Hope College. The development of physical facilities has been particularly striking. DeWitt Student and Cultural Center, Peale Science Center, Lubbers Hall for the Humanities and Social Sciences, and Dow Health and Physical Education Center were all completed in this decade. The Build

"The major accomplishments of the decade, however, are not to be found in facilities and finances, but in the lives of the more than 6,000 students who studied at Hope during this period."

Hope Campaign, initiated in 1971 and successfully concluded in 1977 with more than $10 million raised, was the catalyst by which this was accomplished. The impact of this endeavor is still being felt today. The College operated with a balanced budget in each year of this decade.

The major accomplishments of the decade, however, are not to be found in facilities and finances, but in the lives of the more than 6,000 students who studied at Hope during this period. Our goal has been to help these students develop the gifts and abilities they have been given, to grow and mature in mind, body, and spirit, and to become all that God intends for them to be. Our rewards and satisfactions are the degree to which this has been accomplished and a process of lifetime growth has been initiated. It is always a privilege to meet alumni, and observe the quality of their lives and the excellence and diversity of their service.

During the past academic year there were several major developments in campus facilities. The most significant was the completion of the Dow Health and Physical Education Center. This very remarkable facility has already had a significant effect on the life of the College. Students, faculty and staff members, and members of the community have used it extensively for recreation and maintaining physical fitness. The dedication ceremonies, held on October 20, 1978, focused on our commitment to educate the whole person — mind, body, and spirit.

The staff in the Department of Physical Education has done a remarkable job of managing this facility for the benefit of the entire College community. The new Health Clinic, located in the Dow Center, provides an excellent environment for the clinical staff to carry on a very fine program of health care. An innovative academic program in Health Dynamics, funded by a generous grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, got off to an excellent start this year.

Two smaller but very important projects were initiated this past May: the expansion of the main dining hall and the complete renovation of Van Vleck Hall. Van Vleck Hall was built in 1857 and is the original building of the College campus. In the process of renovation we are restoring this fine building as closely as possible to its original design. The completion of these two projects will greatly enhance the residential life of the College.

The Holland City Council made a decision on July 5, 1979 that has long-term significance to the College. Council voted to eliminate vehicular traffic on 12th Street between College and Columbia Avenues. Hope College and Western Seminary are now developing plans for a walkway and an attractive landscape in this area. This will greatly increase the safety of pedestrians on campus, enhance the unity and beauty of the campus, and make the College an even greater community resource.

The practice and acceptance of sound fiscal policies and procedures, and generous support for the Annual Fund were the major reasons enabling the College to close the fiscal year with a balanced budget — the twelfth successive year this has been achieved. Complete financial data are given in Vice-President William Anderson's report.

Gifts to the Annual Fund totalled $1,055,000. This was the first time in the history of the College that the Annual Fund exceeded $1,000,000. These gifts from alumni, parents, friends, churches, foundations, business and industry provided the vital margin needed to achieve excellence while still balancing the budget. A total of 5,625 persons and 828 organizations contributed to the Annual Fund this year. This broad base of support is one of the great strengths of Hope College. The Trustees again played a major role in the Annual Fund by funding an $85,000 matching gift program. We are grateful to all who supported the College so generously this past year.

I am also pleased to report that our alumni annual giving program for 1977-78 received a national award for improvement from the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education. This is the second time in the past three years that Hope has won such an award. As part of this year's award, Hope received a $1,000 contribution from the United States Steel Foundation. This gift will be used as a challenge to the class of 1979.

Total giving for the year was $2,985,000, which included $786,000 for facilities and $235,000 for endowment.

In the years ahead the most important action of the Board of Trustees this year may well prove to be the decision to initiate "An Endowment of Hope," a major effort to increase the endowment of the College to $10 million (from the present level of $4 million). The goal is to build the long-term financial strength of the College and to provide resources to insure that in the years ahead the College can continue to fulfill its commitment to excellence.

The primary way in which college endowments grow is through gifts which alumni and friends provide in the process of planning their estates. Often these gifts for endowment carry a name designated by the donor. We have identified five areas in which named endowment funds are particularly important:

- Faculty development
- Named scholarships
- Departmental or library resources
- Equipment renewal
- Endowed chairs

We trust that in the years ahead many alumni and friends will participate in the important building of the endowment of the College.

One of the distinctive strengths of Hope College is the extensive research program carried on by faculty members and students in the natural sciences. This requires the acquisition, maintenance, and upgrading of much laboratory equipment, and funding for this is a continuing concern. This year the College was able to procure some major pieces of equipment. Through grants from the National Science Foundation, the Dreyfus Foundation, and a number of local business firms, the College purchased a Fourier Transform Nuclear Magnetic Resonance Spectrometer and a high-performance Liquid Chromatograph at a total cost of $114,000. This equipment, which is unique to an undergraduate college, is already being extensively used in our research programs.

As noted elsewhere in this report, the College again received considerable external funding for its research programs. Such support is vital for the ongoing research endeavors of our faculty and students. The key to achieving such support is to have faculty members who are dedicated to the proposition that students should "do" science as well as "learn" science, and who have gained a reputation for being capable researchers and good stewards of the resources entrusted to them. We acknowledge with gratitude all those external agencies, both public and private, that support our research program.

One of the distinctive features of the year has been the outstanding scholarly and professional accomplishments of faculty members and students. These achievements take many different forms. For those in the arts it may be the performance of a concert, an art show or a theatre production; for others a successful TV production or athletic achievement, the completion of a book after many years of work, a joint faculty-student research publication, or having a poem or essay published in Opus, the student literary magazine. To list all of these achievements is well outside the scope of an annual report. But even a sampling gives firm evidence that Hope continues to be a vigorous, creative, scholarly community.

There are many ways in which the College interacts with the community around us. A unique

"A wholesome sense of community continues to prevail among our student body; it is encouraging to note the support and encouragement which students give to each other."

program, and one of contemporary significance, is the Young Authors' Conference which has been sponsored by our Education Department for the past six years. The purpose of this conference is to encourage elementary teachers to spend classroom time in creative writing and to motivate children to use their imaginative powers to write. Students are selected for participation on the basis of "books" which they have written, illustrated and bound. The students read these works to others during the conference. They go back to their schools with a heightened awareness of their own creative abilities, the realization that creative effort is enjoyable, and the satisfaction of knowing that others enjoy what they write. Professor Nancy Miller directs this conference, which this year attracted 500 participants from 48 schools.

For the past five years the academic vitality of the College has been greatly enhanced through an extensive program of faculty development. Two externally-funded grants, $160,000 from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation in 1974 and $74,150 from The Lilly Endowment Inc. in 1976, have played a strategic role in this endeavor. The Mellon Foundation grant was available to the entire faculty; The Lilly Endowment grant focused on the Senior Seminar and provided an excellent vehicle for bringing faculty from many different disciplines to discuss critical issues of our times. More than 60% of the faculty have had opportunity to pursue their scholarly and professional goals through these two programs.

These two faculty development grants expire in the very near future. Because of the vital importance of this program to on-going academic renewal and vigor, faculty development is one of the major objectives of "An Endowment of Hope."

Professor Henry ten Hoor retired at the close of the academic year. Professor ten Hoor, who is best known for his outstanding teaching of Shakespeare, gave excellent leadership to the Summer Session for many years. His insights into the overall purposes of a liberal arts college and the mission of Hope College have been a source of strength and stability. We extend our best wishes to Professor and Mrs. ten Hoor in the years ahead.

In February it was our privilege to welcome the Rev. Gerard Van Heest '49 as the new Chaplain of the College. Through his sensitivity to individuals, his abilities as a counsellor, and his thoughtful leadership to the College as a whole, Mr. Van Heest has already won the respect of a large portion of the College community.

Last fall Dr. Philip Fredrickson '50, who has been in higher education administration for more than two decades, joined our staff as Dean for Admissions. Hope has a fine admissions staff and over the years has developed an outstanding admissions program. We are grateful for Dr. Fredrickson's leadership of this office and his contributions to the College as a whole.

Enrollment was again at the full capacity of the College this past year, with the residence halls fully occupied. A wholesome sense of community continues to prevail among our student body; it is encouraging to note the support and encouragement which students give to each other.

In conversations with students I have detected considerable concern about their futures after college. The Office of Career Planning and Placement therefore plays an increasingly important role in helping students formulate and pursue their post-college plans. Mrs. Darlys Topp became director of this office last September and has given outstanding leadership to this facet of student affairs.

The percentage of students going on to graduate school has been relatively constant, with approximately half of the students continuing their studies on a full-time basis, and most of the others taking employment in their chosen fields. It is encouraging to hear from many recent graduates in both of these categories who are finding personal fulfillment and intellectual challenge. A wholesome commitment to work and vocation has always been part of a liberal arts education at Hope.

This year witnessed an unusually large number of changes in membership of the Board of Trustees. Three Trustees — Mrs. Ruth Peale, Mr. Clarence Becker, and Mr. Kenneth P.E. De Groot — completed two six-year terms on the Board of Trustees. These twelve years were marked by many significant accomplishments at the College, including operating with a balanced budget during this entire period. Each of these Trustees played a key role in the work of the Board and their presence will be greatly missed.

Mrs. Marguerite Den Herder, who completed a six-year term, has had great interest in the work of the Office of Student Affairs and the Library, and served the College with distinction. Two members of the Board resigned during this year, the Rev. Chester Droog because of the press of duties in California, and the Rev. Gerard Van Heest because of his appointment as Chaplain of the College. All of these persons who left the Board will be greatly missed and we extend our best wishes to them and send our deepest thanks to them.

The following persons were elected members of the Board of Trustees: Mr. Willard G. De Groot of Pasadena, California; Mr. Leonard Maas of Grandville, Michigan; the Rev. John H. Maassen of Lansing, Illinois; the Rev. James Neevel of Kingston, New York; Mrs. Marianne Van Eenenaam of Grand Haven, Michigan. Mr. Peter C. Cook was re-elected to a six-year term.

The officers of the Board of Trustees this past year were Dr. Victor W. Eimicke, who completed his first year as Chairman; Mr. George Heeringa, Vice Chairman; and Dr. Willard C. Wichers, Secretary. These officers gave excellent leadership to the work of the Board and the entire College this past year and have been re-elected to their respective offices.

I close this annual report with some reflections on contemporary society that bear directly on the College. Broadly speaking, there are three major sectors in American society: business, government, and non-profit organizations — which include churches, hospitals, libraries, museums, performing arts groups, and colleges and universities.

These organizations play an important role in society in terms of the specific functions they perform. But the fact is that most of these functions could be done by business or government, as is already done to some extent in this country, and almost exclusively elsewhere in the world. This being so, is it of value to maintain the strength and vitality of this non-profit sector? Do these non-profit organizations make a unique contribution to society in addition to fulfilling specific functions?

I believe the indirect contributions of these organizations are very significant and probably more important than the specific functions performed. They provide opportunities for individuals to serve and participate in meaningful ways in community life and service to others, but always on a completely voluntary basis. Such an environment is conducive to the preservation and enrichment of personal freedom, and focuses attention on our responsibility to serve others. Further, because these organizations depend on voluntary contributions, a high degree of accountability can be expected; these organizations must make a significant and needed contribution or they will simply lose support. There are also great pressures on the non-profit sector for economy of operation and responsible stewardship of the resources provided by donors.

There is a tendency these days, as costs go up faster than contributions, for non-profit organizations to turn to the government for support. Without arguing the merits or demerits of any particular situation, I believe that society as a whole, and each of us as individuals, will lose much if we allow this trend to continue. A far better alternative is a high level of performance by the non-profit sector, and generous and responsible philanthropy from private sources.

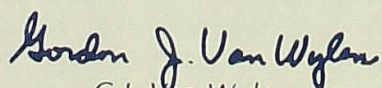

"Each sector must operate with integrity, fidelity to its mission, and sensitivity to the total needs of society."

Non-profit organizations do have particular responsibilities. Integrity is of prime importance; slick promotion can never be a substitute for solid accomplishment. Those of us in such institutions also have the responsibility to support both business and government, and to help them identify and clarify their respective, and sometimes changing, roles. We must recognize that profits for business and taxes for the government are as important and legitimate to these sectors as is philanthropy to the non-profit sector; excesses are always inappropriate. Each sector must operate with integrity, fidelity to its mission, and sensitivity to the total needs of society.

Among all of the institutions in the non-profit sector, colleges and universities have unique opportunities and responsibilities in this regard. As we educate our young citizens we can help them understand the structure of our society, our history and traditions, the major issues before us in the world today, and the values and moral standards on which society functions.

As a College that takes the Christian faith seriously, Hope is in a unique position to do this, for we see ourselves as living in God's world, and we understand something of the meaning of the Incarnation. These are the truths that give ultimate meaning to life, an optimism that transcends present realities, an enduring basis for excellence in scholarship and learning, and a love for justice, mercy, and truth. Fulfilling this mission is worthy of our best and noblest efforts.

We thank all those who have participated in the work of the College this past year. It has been a good year; we hope you share in our joy over what has been accomplished.

G.J. Van Wylen

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Substantial increases in contributions and income generated from the College's cash flow, along with budget control, allowed the College to complete another fiscal year in the black.

High inflation, the need to replace capital equipment, and maintenance of an expanding campus will provide many challenges in the years ahead.

The financial support that is received from the College's constituency represents over 11% of the College's general and educational budget and has allowed for the addition of new educational facilities without adding significantly to debt. The faculty, administration and students are appreciative of this support and will continue to be good stewards of the funds you have provided.

HOPE IN THE SEVENTIES: TRANSITION The early 70s emerged as a period of transition for college students in general and Hope College in specific. The period of protest over world and national concerns passed. During this period, Hope students made significant social contributions by raising money for a new school building in South Vietnam, and through financial donations to alleviate starving in Biafra.

The President's home again bustled with activity with the arrival of the College's new first family in the summer of 1972. Gordon J. Van Wylen became the ninth President of Hope College on July 1, 1972. During the 70s Dr. Van Wylen guided Hope through an unparalleled period of growth, both in physical plant and increased esteem for quality of academic program.

HOPE IN THE SEVENTIES: STUDENT LIFE Many traditions were sustained and new ones started during the 70s as the student body kept the campus alive. The Pull tug-of-war entered its eighth decade. The scope of intercollegiate athletics was broadened as 18 sports were offered to both men and women.

There were many other diverse activities available to students such as a November, 1970 appearance in the White House by the Chapel Choir. And, of course, there were many opportunities for unorganized play.

HOPE IN THE SEVENTIES: A FIRMER BASE The 70s was a period of unparalleled growth as the value of the Hope College physical plant increased over 50% to an estimated $20 million. Hope relied on the generous contributions of thousands of friends to make these projects possible. Build Hope, the most ambitious fund raising program in the history of Hope College, was deemed the most successful, with a final tally of $10,227,049.14.

Contributions came in all sizes, from grants of several hundred thousand dollars by major philanthropic foundations to the revenue generated by children selling lemonade at athletic contests. Hope's annual fund also grew in stature, receiving two national awards.

HOPE IN THE SEVENTIES: CAMPUS DEVELOPMENT Graduates who have not been back to Hope in the past ten years would not recognize the campus. The DeWitt Student and Cultural Center, opened in the Fall of 1971, fulfills numerous educational and activity needs. The Peale Science Center brought into focus Hope's outstanding science program when it opened in the Fall of 1972.

The former science building, named in honor of President Emeritus Irwin J. Lubbers, was renovated to serve several departments in the humanities and social sciences. A new municipal stadium opened in the Fall of 1979 to a capacity Hope College football crowd.

HOPE IN THE SEVENTIES: DOW HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION CENTER

The opening of the $3.6 million Dow Health and Physical Education Center in the Fall of 1979 allowed Hope to meet the needs of expanding programs in physical education, health, recreation and athletics.

Designed with an emphasis on flexibility, economy and multiple use of space, the entire facility is dedicated to a central focus: to promote a realistic commitment to health and fitness.

Dear Alumni:

June 30, 1979, closed another record-breaking year for the Alumni Annual Fund, with a total of $388,888.95 contributed from 4,672 alumni.

Especially gratifying was winning the award for alumni giving from the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE)/United States Steel Foundation for the second time in the last three years. It is obvious that Hope alumni are committed to keeping their school strong today and tomorrow.

During 1978-79 we had real growth in our Reunion Class Program. Six classes held reunions this year ('29, '34, '39, '44, '49, '54), and almost 500 alumni returned to campus for these. The combined giving of the six reunion classes was $60,083.21. This represented 15% of the total alumni contributions. In this academic year the classes of '30, '35, '40, '45, '50, '55, '60 and '65 will be holding their special reunions.

On behalf of the Alumni Board, I would like to express our appreciation to the Board of Trustees for again digging into their already generous pockets to provide a matching fund for new and increased gifts. Also, special thanks to President Van Wylen; to Vice President De Young, John Nordstrom, Cindy Pocock and Kurt Van Genderen of the Development Office; and to Tom Renner, Vern Schipper and Mary Kempker of the Alumni Office.

The completion of a successful year also means greater effort in the coming year. I know Hope alumni will continue to support their alma mater in ways which will assure academic excellence in the context of the Christian faith.

Warren W. Kane '57
Alumni Board President

HONOR ROLL OF DONORS

ALUMNI

The Hope College Annual Alumni Fund campaign is conducted by a member of each graduating class. The Class Representative is pictured before his/her class. The percentage and dollar amount indicates the participation of the class in the 1978-79 campaign.

The 1978-79 Alumni Annual Fund was the most successful in the history of Hope College. The College received a national award in the U.S. Steel 1979 Alumni Giving Awards Program in the Private Coeducational Colleges (over 10,000 alumni) Improvement category.

HOPE BUILDERS

During 1978-79 the Board of Trustees pledged $81,000 from their own resources as a challenge to Alumni, parents and friends. They agreed to match all new donors of $25 or more and all increases of $25 or more.

Hope Builders, designated by a ⚡ in front of their name, are those alumni, parents and friends, whose gifts met the criteria of the Trustee Challenge.

FOUNDERS SOCIETY

The Founders Society is named after the Reverend Albertus C. Van Raalte. Members of the Founders Society are dedicated to the vision and commitment of Hope's founder. They, too, believe that Hope College is an "Anchor of Hope for the Future."

Members of the Founders Society believe in the future of the College. Their mission is to provide increased resources for Hope to move ahead. The Founders Society identifies alumni, parents and friends whose gifts of $500 to $999 each year express their vision for Hope College. Membership in the Founders Society increased from 79 last year, the first year of the Society, to 155 in 1978-79 — an increase of 96%. Please consider the opportunity to join The Founders Society in 1979-80.

PACSETTERS

Pacesetters are alumni, parents and friends who give tangible expression of their commitment and support by contributing $250-$499 each year to the Annual Fund.

Hope's Pacesetters believe society needs a college dedicated to providing a meaningful education within the context of the Christian faith. Pacesetters are dedicated to providing resources so that Hope can continue to train leaders who will make the world a better place. Membership in Hope's Pacesetters grew from 187 in 1977-78, the first year of the Club, to 430 in fiscal year 1978-79 — an increase of 130%. You are cordially invited to join with us in strengthening the present and future of Hope College.
